

Section Five: Instructional Programs

510 – SCHOOL COUNSELING

Introduction

Counselling is a supportive service provided within schools and is intended to assist:

- the students with their educational, career, personal, and social development by making the best use of the services and opportunities provided by the school and the community;
- the school staff in providing the most effective education for students.

Policy

The role of the Counsellors is to assist students, teachers and parents to achieve the three major goals of education:

- intellectual development
- personal and social responsibility
- preparation for working life.